Holidays in NEAMȚ

Wherever you come from, Traveler, you are invited to visit this blessed land of Neamț where you can have experiences you have never known before. You can rise to the heights of the Holy Mountain Ceahlău, or rule for a moment over the land stretching at your feet far to the horizon and recharge breathing in the force and magic contained by each and every rock. You can also listen to the murmur of the rapid streams carrying the legends of Bistrița River through mountains and hills, down to the plains. Furthermore, you can knock on the gates of Neamț Fortress for the descendants of Stephen the Great border guards to welcome you or you can choose to find out the secrets of history carved in the memory of the earth, of documents, and of the locals. In addition, you can rest your soul at the monasteries and churches immersed in the aura of faith and the ringing of bells and you can sit around the table with us and treat yourself with Moldavian dishes we have prepared for you, or drink a carafe of wine and spin stories by the fireside.

Whatever the number of places you have been to and people you have met, if you stay for a while in Neamț, you will certainly feel it was worth the effort.

Discover a legendary land

Any traveler coming to Neamț County experiences the same dilemma: what should they see first from the rich and diversified touristic offer? What can be skipped by? How much can one absorb of what is displayed? Wherever you start from, you discover values carved in stone and in the chronicler's writings. Moreover, you can identify the possible trails that go beyond the physical space and lead to a history still reverberating with life. It seems that in Neamț area there is a tendency to transfer time and space into fantasy: every rock, every hill, every mountain, every creek has a story to tell. Should you stop and listen to all these stories, you will realize that the borderline between legend and reality is very thin.

01 Neamț Fortress, Târgu Neamț

How Neamț Fortress looks and how it survived the centuries are strongly connected to the history of the area dating back to more than seven centuries. The Fortress was commissioned by Petru I Mușat and then extended and consolidated under the rule of Stephen the Great. It falls under the category of extraordinarily valuable medieval monuments in Romania. Important pages of heroism were written here such as the eight-day opposition to the furious Ottoman siege led by none other than the fearsome Sultan Mohammed II following the battle of Războieni (1476) or the glorious episode written in their own blood by the 19 frontier guards facing the Polish army led by Jan Sobieski, in 1691. Info Phone: 0733 981 798, 0733 981 814

02 Veronica Micle Memorial House in Târgu Neamț

In the old centre of Târgu Neamț town, Veronica Micle Memorial House stands as a precious relic of the nineteenth century weaving the images of the old settlement with the living memory of the poetess who carved her name for eternity – through love and sorrow – next to Mihai Eminescu's name. Info Phone: 0233 790 594, 0733 981 814

03 "Vasile Găman" Ethnography Museum

Wherever you set your eyes in the household of artisan Vasile Găman you may find proof of his talent and craftsmanship. Beginning with the high gate onto which, as he puts it, "I wrote the history of my people with the chisel, for all passers-by to find out". His love for the traditions of the people on the Ozana Valley got materialised in his collecting tools and household objects, pottery and coffee tables, old folk dress, fur vests and long woollen coats, all kind and sizes of pots, musical instruments, and old coins, icons, books and maps and many other valuables. Hospitable people are waiting for you to visit their home. Info Phone: 0736 324 173

04 "Dragoș Vodă" European Bison Nature Reserve

After having disappeared from this habitat since 1800, the European bison – the largest dry land mammal in Europe – lives again in this nature reserve. Now there are 31 animals of this species here – both bulls and cows – of which 25 are integrated in a species conservation programme to help them live in semi-wilderness. The nature reserve includes all species specific to the Carpathian fauna as well as equally representative plant life. Info Phone: 0233 206 002, 0233 206 001, 0233 251 060, www.vanatoripark.ro

05 Mihail Sadoveanu Memorial House

The hunting and angling objects, which illustrate both the life and the work of the writer, are of a special interest. A closer look will notice the Venetian furniture in the sitting room or an over a hundred-year-old chest of drawers as well as an impressive Viennese grand piano whose keys preserve the touch of George Enescu, Dinu Lipatti, or Maria Tănase. Besides the 1,823 objects that belonged to the writer, 21 manuscripts are also on display. Info Phone: 0233 251 889

06 Neamț Monastery

First certified in documents in 1210, it is acknowledged as one of the oldest and most significant monastic settlements in Moldavia, and was successively under the auspices of benefactors such as Petru Mușat, Alexander the Blessed and Stephen the Great. You will find here the largest and the oldest monastic library, an invaluable religious art museum and a museum of print. The scholarly and spiritual traditions of this monastery go back to the fourteenth century. They are also connected to the brilliant activity of a renowned school for calligraphers and miniaturists, trained under the guidance of Gavriil Uric and a printing press organised soon after the 1500, which enhanced the fame of orthodoxy. In the great church, the most beautiful of the churches commissioned by Stephen the Great, there is also a miraculous icon of Our Lady, painted in Israel in 665. Info Phone: 0233 251 580, 0745 212 708

07 Secu Monastery

The beginnings of this old monastic settlement are related to a hermitage founded here in 1530, by hermit Zosima. The small church of the hermitage was commissioned by Prince Petru Rareș (1527-1546). Later on, the Great Minister of internal affairs, Nestor Ureche, father of the chronicler Grigore Ureche, commissioned here, in 1602, a new church and part of the outbuildings necessary to the monastic life. The entire complex, with visible Wallachian influences, was then renovated through the effort of the monks. Its stronghold-like aspect impresses the visitor as well as the beauty of some religious regalia and art works, of which the gilded iconostasis, in lime-tree wood, carved in the Baroque style. Info Phone: 0233 251 862

08 Sihăstria Monastery

You will discover here one of the most blessed hermitages of the place where secluded hermits from afar humbled in prayer, over the years. Here, in Atanase's Clearing, bishop Ghedeon of Huși commissioned a hermitage in 1655, which was rebuilt between 1824-1826, of river stone and brick, with the endeavour of Metropolitan Bishop Veniamin Costache. The new church was built in the Classical Moldavian style, and the iconostasis, carved in lime-tree wood, is gilded. Info Phone: 0233 251 896, 0233 251 897

09 Sihla Hermitage

On the forestry road between Agapia village and Sihăstria and Secu Monasteries, Sihla Monastery is an important religious pilgrimage site, mainly due to the Saint Pious Teodora's Cave, which you can reach on the northern side of Sihla Mountain, on a hidden path. This is the place where, through rivers of tars, fast, and prayer, the Pious humbled for many years. The story goes that Sihla hermitage was erected in homage of her life in 1725. Info Phone: 0744 513 879, 0743 961 818

10 Petru Vodă Monastery

Although recently built (1991), the monastery displays many elements of the medieval style and is the only one to have exterior painting in Neamț County. It has become soon a much sought after pilgrimage site. Info Phone: 0737 121 100, 0233 893 531, email: manastirea@petru-voda.ro

11 Piatra Teiului Rock

"Forty-feet tall, set on a round foundation, cut to size, many travelers like me upon their first journey will take it, from afar, for a daring building that has been here for ages. But when you look at its location in the flat area, 500 steps far for any height, with its cracks filled with yellowish moss by the elements, you find yourself speechless and small in front of the majestic giant; it seems that your eyes set on one of the rocks the titans dropped. Thirty feet from the ground, a protuberant edge of the rock makes something like a porch and above it rises the crest, slightly crooked and adorned with lime-tree shoots, which gave its name to the rock in order to forget another terrible name that the shepherds merely whisper and cross themselves as any good Christian would do." Alecu Russo

With its picturesque architecture, the museum displays since 1960 aspects of a peasant's house on Bistrița Valley, the folk dress, the main occupations and crafts in the sub-Carpathian region of Moldavia, and details related to farming. Info Phone: 0733 939 453

03 Art Gallery in Piatra Neamț

Pursuing the national specificity and its interference with European values, the gallery displays the work of artists who developed their roots in or who entertained emotional ties with Neamț County, such as C.D. Stahi, Aurel Băieșu, Lascăr Vorel, N. Milord, Clement Pompiliu, Iulia Hălăucescu, and shelters important selections of their work. Info Phone: 0233 216 808

04 Bistrița Monastery

Commissioned successively by four great princes of Mușat dynasty, Alexander the Blessed, Stephen the Great, Petru Rareș and Alexandru Lăpușneanu, the monastery's most valuable regalia is Saint Ana's miraculous icon, presented as a gift by the Byzantine Emperor Manuel II Palaiologos and his wife Ana in 1407. At the beginning of the 15th century, monk Chiril carried out here a genuine work of art by copying and decorating with miniatures the Tetraevangelhel (the Four Gospels). Between the 16th and the 19th centuries, a renowned school of copyists, chancellery clerks and secretaries activated here as well. Info Phone: 0233 241 695

05 Vaduri and Pângărați Reservoirs

Located on either side of DN 15, these are two of the nine reservoirs on Bistrița River, areas under special avifaunistic protection. The area offers favourable food and shelter conditions for many migrating bird species, mainly swans and wild ducks, to winter.

06 Pângărați Monastery

Beyond the gates of the monastery, you will find a church built in stone with a unique architecture, commissioned by Alexandru Lăpușneanu. Father Superior Macarius turns the recess in the basement into a small church. This makes Pângărați Monastery unique as it has two churches, one on top of the other, with different entrances and patron saints. The two churches communicate, inside, through a very narrow and steep spiral staircase made in stone. Quite remarkable is the imposing silhouette of the new church on the hill nearby, which increases the value of the monastic complex – an important Christian Orthodox spiritual and cultural abode. ## 08 Izvoru Muntelui Dam and Reservoir

Also known as the "sea between the mountains", it is the largest reservoir on inland rivers in Romania and the only "lake" to celebrate "Romanian Navy's Day". The reservoir stretches its mirror on 35 km long, at the foot of Ceahlău Massif, and the volume of water contained behind the impressive dam, built between 1950 and 1960, can reach up to 1,250 million cubic metres. The dam was built according to the design conducted by Eng. Dimitrie Leonida as a "weight" dam, the largest of its kind on interior rivers in Romania and with its 127-m height it ranks third in the country. It also ranks ninth as gravity dam in terms of height in Europe. When put to service, in 1961, the dam was the fourth weight dam in Europe in terms of height.

Bicaz Gorges – Bicaz – Durău

When you reach Bicaz Gorges, you wonder whether you are dreaming or awake and you can barely grasp the big rocks thrown on the road, which, should you climb up, you would reach the skies. Then, immediately after descending along the creek, towards Neamț area, you find other gorges, other stone giants, with their caves and their own stories. If you think there is nothing else that could enchant you after all you have seen, you should know that the excitement is just beginning: now, when the path to Ceahlău, the Olympus of the Carpathian or the Holy Mountain of the Dacians, whatever you may call it, looms in front of your eyes. Whatever the trail you may chose to climb and set your eyes on, tens of hundreds of rocks varying in size and shape pop up in your way. Each of them is shrouded in legend, and up there on the horizon of Ceahlău, under the warm embrace of the sun, you feel both the majesty of heaven and earth, and feel you are a proud descendant of the ancient gods.

01 Bicz Gorges

Coming to Neamț County from Gheorghieni, you'll enjoy crossing the rocky kingdom of Bicz Gorges, Romania's most famous ones. Particularly picturesque and amazing due to the majestic scenery they offer, they are part of Bicz Gorges – Hășmaș Nature Reserve. You enter through the Rocky Gate, guarded by the Clearing's Rock – the most impressive massif of the Gorges, then you go down gradually on the Small Serpentine – a short tunnel – and then the Large Serpentine until you reach the site called the Hell's Gate, where the Clearing's Rock and the Bardos Mountain are only a few metres apart. At this spot, you will set your eyes on the most impressive, almost apocalyptic view. Now you reach the Hell's Throat, and after catching your breath for a while, you'll see on your right, the confluence of Bicz River with Bicăjel, a creek which has been carving three sets of wild gorges of its own, with small but noisy waterfalls.

02 Șugău Gorges

You catch sight of them even at speed after you pass Bicz Gorges, on the left of the road. They form a wild rocky area, which is actually one of the most valuable protected areas in the Carpathians and in Europe due to the uniqueness of the scenery, geology, karst, flora and fauna. If you are a true lover of nature, if you have reached the area to admire these beautiful treasures in their natural environment and not just sprinkled on the sides of the road, all you have to do is think of a halt for a few hours in the midst of these so little known and deciphered wonders of endless series of geological evolution.

03 Wooden Church in Biczu Ardelean

Built between 1823 and 1829 on the site of a former church certified in document as back as 1692, the small wooden church enchants not only with its architecture but also with its splendid painting directly on the interior wooden beams. It is the second fully painted wooden church in Neamț region to be preserved after the one in Răpciuni – Ceahlău that was relocated to Village Museum in Bucharest. Info Phone: 0722 295 574, 0233 255 392.

04 Ceahlău Nature Reserve

None of the mountains in Romanian has ever charmed the eyes or ignited the imagination of hikers as Ceahlău has... This majestic dome of the Eastern Carpathians and the entire Moldavian area, haloed by the ancestral geological turmoil which has majestically and proudly lifted it from the bottom of the seas, has been blessed throughout millennia with people's hunting, sheepherding and praying in its clearings, caves and pastures. Ever since the beginning of time, from the surroundings or from the mountain peaks, the beholders' eyes, caressed by the sun, sought to rejoice and find the ever vivid and overwhelming miracle of nature ... When walking the paths of Ceahlău, you can enjoy the harmonious blend between the open skyline – at times reaching the seashore – and the magnificent, overwhelming lace of the corners, towers, shelves, and stone walls. Ceahlău is much like a huge and impressive open-air museum displaying exhibits unique in their diverse shapes, each having a legend of its own: Dochia, Panagia, Toaca, Dorobanțul, the Monks, the Rock in Tears, Butu's Tower, the Shelves with lilies, Detunatele – and many, many others ... they are truly impressive formations, exquisitely crafted by the elements, displayed boldly and generously as a sign of the force that one can still feel rising from the depths of the earth as well as descending from the sky, on crystal clear days...

05 History and Ethnography Museum in Bicz

The former Royal Theatre in Bicz opens its doors for you to see testimonies of the history of Bistrița Valley, documents regarding the construction works of Bicz Dam, ethnographic elements of the area, and last but not least, fine art works showing the area as it once used to be. Built on the site of a former 1600 hermitage, first documented in 1779, the holy settlement hides behind the walls of the church a special iconostasis made of lime-tree wood, gilded and painted in Constantinople in 1835. A work of large size encompassing characters and elements inspired from the local landscape, the local folk dress and human diversity, though seemingly no longer observing the old iconographic canons, Nicolae Tonitza and his apprentices left their mark here to be admired by visitors. Here still, you will find a coffer with relics of St Pantelimon and St Simeon bought from Mount Athos. Info Phone: 0233 256 674, 0744 820 884

Roznov – Războieni – Roman

Coming from Bacău, along Bistrița River, when you reach Roznov, we advise you to turn left towards the century-old forests in Tazlău Valley. Then drive among the gently sloping hills, down to the plain, to the crossroads, at Ancuța's Inn. The hosts will welcome you as happy as the former famous innkeeper, Ancuța, in Sadoveanu's equally famous stories, and will provide accommodation and entertainment at they have always done. ## 01 Tazlău Monastery

Having its roots at the beginning of the fifteenth century, the monastic settlement became significant between 1496 and 1497, when Stephen the Great commissioned here a church in brick, "The Nativity of Virgin Mary" - one of the most imposing churches commissioned by the great Prince. For nearly three centuries, the monastery flourished from the spiritual and economical point of view. A school for deacons and copyists - who transcribed manuscript of the time - was opened here. The decline began when monasteries in Moldovia were surrendered under the patronage of the Patriarchate of Constantinople and Jerusalem. The fire in 1879 marked the end of this stage of monastic life here. The monastery was then converted into a parish church and remained that way till 1990, when it resumed its monastic destination at the foot of Măgura Tazlău. Info Phone: 0740 769 752

02 St Nicholas' Church in Roznov

A famous politician of his time, Colonel George Ruset Roznovanu, commissioned this building at the end of the nineteenth century in memory of his son, Alexander, passed away at the age of 20. Surrounded by the Arboretum Park Roznov, the church impresses by its unusual architecture in the area. Having special ties with Russia and Russian nobility, the Roznovanu commissioned this church similar to the Russian ones - with stone walls, the layout as a cross with equal arms on top of which there is the onion-shaped dome. Inside the church, the gilded bronze iconostasis, made in Moscow between 1890 and 1892, impresses with its size and rich decorations. The harmonious painting was done by Costin Petrescu who also painted the Romanian Athenaeum. Info Phone: 0233 667126

03 Arboretum Park in Roznov

The Arboretum Park in Roznov located on your way on DN 15 occupies an aprox. 7.4 acres area where you can relax in the shadow of century-old trees. Oaks, beeches, chestnuts, and rare species of silver fir, white pine, Japanese acacia, yellow acacia, Japanese maple, elm, and pine welcome you to enjoy the colourful foliage and the fresh air.

04 Războieni Monastery

Located in the middle of the village with the same name, the monastery was commissioned by Stephen the Great, in 1496, to pay homage to soldiers fallen in the White Valley battle against the Turks (1476). The foundation plaque placed on the south wall of the "Holy Archangels Michael and Gabriel" Church describes the defeat of Moldavia in the war for defending the country's borders and faith, and the reason behind the commission was to cherish the memory of the soldiers who followed the Prince in battle. Hence, the monastery is unique in the series of churches founded by Stephen the Great as it is also a mausoleum - the remains of soldiers killed in battle, rest under the altar and the narthex slabs. Info Phone: 0233 292 912

05 Ancuța's Inn

Once a halt for travelers or "carriers in the Highland", located at the crossroads, built like a stronghold in an isolated area and enlivened by people whose stories were "either terrible or intriguing", it preserves even today the atmosphere of the past offering traditional dishes and chef's specialities developed in Anița's larder. Info Phone: 0233 781 400

10 "Saint Parascheva"

Archbishopric Church in Roman

The belfry is also monumental and expressive – its five storeys house an equally impressive library. Info Phone: 0233 731 683

11 The White Church in Roman

Commissioned in 1615 by Prince Ștefan Tomșa II, and then rebuilt in 1695 by the sword bearer Vasile Cantacuzino, the White Church will interest you with its foundation plaque of 1695 which contains the Cantacuzinos' coat of arms and monogram, the expressive painting in vivid colours, and the iconostasis which, despite lacking a historical value as it was built in 1922, presents rich and varied sculptural elements. Info Phone: 0726 335 696, 0722 347 507

12 "Virgin Mary" Great Church in Roman

Commissioned in 1569 by Lady Ruxandra Lăpușneanu, the church stood the test of troubled times and of the elements. It still preserves the belfry, the Holy Table, the foundation plaque, and many religious regalia. Located near the Archbishopric Complex in Roman, you can easily notice the elegance and the sobriety of the exterior as well as the accurate sculpture of the iconostasis and the interior mural painting worked in the Neo-Byzantine fresco technique.
